

BACK TO LIFE

LYRICS

BACK TO LIFE

WEBSITE

<https://paralandrarocks.com>

I'm slipping out
I'm falling in, but only when it suits me
How ignorant
And how selfish can someone choose to be

I have played the part
I have joined the game

I'm falling, you're catching me
(Never second guess)
Pretending you're never there
I keep trying and surviving
Knowing this could be a curse
If it wasn't for that look in your eyes
that brought me Back to Life

It was all for me
Not a one for you cause I could do it all on my own
But you still cared for me
No, you just wouldn't leave
So I would reap what I had sewn

I have played the part
I have joined the game

I'm falling, you're catching me
(Never second guess)
Pretending you're never there
I keep trying and surviving
Knowing this could be a curse
If it wasn't for that look in your eyes
that brought me Back to Life

And you wished me well even when I deserved Hell
And there's no way to explain the way you ease my pain
All of the times I'd run, try to leave you behind You'd stand with open arms awaiting my return

I'm falling, you're catching me
(Never second guess)
Pretending you're never there
I keep trying and surviving
Knowing this could be a curse
If it wasn't for that look in your eyes
that brought me Back to Life