It's been 600 days since we set on our way
A thousand miles under our feet
We've been robbed, we have ruled
But we've never been fooled
By their words, yet so cunningly sweet

There's a red furnace burning in each of us stirring
Our souls yearn to act and create
With so much before us, how can we ignore this Commission to reanimate

So lay down your guns because we are the Fortunate Ones

Ooh we are the stars in the sky
Ooh follow us, multiply

One thousand five hundred are roaring like thunder
And lifting us up on their arms
While Alice is crowning the malice is drowning
Out voices that sound the alarm

So get off of your mark and set fire to the spark
While the blood is still hot in your veins
The cog of this ocean is set into motion
By one Parasite you must pay

So lay down your guns
Cause we are the Fortunate Ones

Ooh we are the stars in the sky
Ooh follow us, multiply

Let my wick ignite
Bring a flame to my sight
Surges through my veins
Electrify this dull light

Ooh we are the stars in the sky
Ooh follow us, multiply
Ooh we are the sands on the shore
Ooh taste and see, show me more
Cause we are the Fortunate Ones
