Hello, sir
How do you do
I planned on passing through
Know a way
How kind of you
Make me feel so safe

But how could I have looked right through his disguise

It's such a shame now that I know
A masquerade of friend or foe
All of your words are laced with greed
Am I here to supply your Need to Feed

Something's strange, but he persuades me
I look past what I see
He tells me that we're not far
But nothing strikes a spark

I still tried to trust those deceiving yellow eyes

It's such a shame now that I know
A masquerade of friend or foe
All of your words are laced with greed
Am I here to supply your Need to Feed

I can taste the frost now in the air
Was it that long ago
Longing for nostalgia
For Heaven's sake, I'm alone

Find a spark that will push me
From the clouds to the ground
Searching for a landmark
To define what I surround

It's such a shame now that I know
A masquerade of friend or foe
All of your words are laced with greed
Am I here to supply your Need to Feed

On all I am
I opened up, you came right in
What a disgrace
You've captured me
I'm just here to supply your Need to Feed
