WEIGHTNESS

Does it seem like it gets colder?
Maybe I just need a shoulder

Maybe it's me, it could just be all in my head
I wanna move on, but it seems so incredibly far
They say it's a choice
But I can't seem to grip all this "power" I have Someone make my decision instead

So how does it feel reaching the end
Overcoming?
Did you see a sign? Did you follow a light?
Tell me I beg
Did it take very long? Was it worth the long haul?
Will I be left breathless?
Oh I, I just wanna know how it feels to be Weightless

Searching for another way out
I can't seem to stop living in doubt

I imagine it as being a child again
Confidence high, knowing that I have the wind
Perfectly oblivious to all my surroundings
That would hinder my being instead

So how does it feel reaching the end
Overcoming?
Did you see a sign? Did you follow a light?
Tell me I beg
Did it take very long? I'm sure it's worth the long haul
Will I be left breathless?
Oh I, I just wanna know how it feels to be Weightless

I've taken a knee
I'm ready to accept my fate and stay strong
Never turn my back again

So this is the life
Through pain and through strife
I finally made it
I feel like I'm flying on cherubim fire
Soaring higher than cloud nine
So now I'm fearless, I can't be conquered
And restless, I'll never stop
Now that I've become Weightless
