Faith Hope Love

The sun is shining down

With liquid gold that heals a darkened soul

Just let it in

It’s beating on your door

A lustrous life awaits, but you ignore

We don’t have the time to waste on making enemies

Where is your faith?

Where is your love?

Where is your hope?

Am I alone?

Where is your faith?

Where is your love?

Where is your hope?

Am I alone?

The stakes are overgrown

You stack your hatred underneath your throne

So cut the ties

And walk along your wire

See if you can handle what you find

We don’t have the time to waste on making enemies

Where is your faith?

Where is your love?

Where is your hope?

Am I alone?

Where is your faith?

Where is your love?

Where is your hope?

Am I alone?

Am I alone?

We program our minds individualistically

No, we don’t have the time for making all these enemies

Where is your faith?

Where is your love?

Where is your hope?

Am I alone?

Where is your faith?

Where is your love?

Where is your hope?

Am I alone?

Faith, hope, love